OFFICIAL VIEW ON R.R. CHANGE TO BE AIRED MONDAY NIGHT

Supervisors, City Council, Commerce Chamber's Directors Meet At Courthouse To Discuss Proposed Abandonment of S. P. Passenger Service To County

The attitude which the Board of Supervisors, the Placerville City Council and the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce will take toward the proposed abandonment by the Southern Pacific Company of its passenger schedule between Sacramento and Placerville will be established at a meeting of members of the three groups, to be held Monday night at the courthouse.

Announcement of plans for the meeting was made Tuesday by the chamber secretary, Wallace M. Ripley, who stated that Examiner Edwards, of the Railroad Commission, before whom a hearing on the proposed abandonment was held in Placerville Friday, has announced he will keep his files open for the receipt of testimony in the matter until November 10.

In the hearing Friday, opponents to the proposed abandonment of the passenger service claimed strength for their arguments in the development of three major points:

1. It was stated that the losses claimed by the company in its passenger service on the line are comparatively negligible in a consideration of the revenues earned by freight service on the line. In this connection, it was brought out that the greatest loss which the railroad company was able to show on the passenger service for a year was $17,000, whereas one El Dorado County industrial plant alone, solely on its incoming freight, showed a total bill of upward of $60,000 for a year.

2. It was charged that the railroad company has made little or no effort to encourage travel over the line; and,

3. It was charged that the abandonment of the line would result in a loss of $100,000 to the county.

Flood Control Work Started

$10,000 State Allocation Starts Improvement On Various County Roads

Project Engineer Don M. Hoffman, reports that the work on El Dorado County Roads, which has been made possible by the allocation of Flood relief funds from the state to this county, is well under way. A total of $10,000 was allotted El Dorado county some time ago.

Among the projects approved by the State Department, about half have been completed. They are: the Dry Diamond road, the Gold Hill road, the Patton Flat road, the Texas Hill road and the Grizzly Flat road, and the Georgetown Ranger Station road.

There is yet to be completed, the bridge over the north fork of the Cummins at Sweetleys, which was washed out previously; a culvert and retaining wall at the Deer Creek bridge on the Tarboro-Clarksville road, and the Wentworth Springs road.

A further application has been submitted to the state on behalf of the board of supervisors, for approximately $5,000 additional state funds for other work, in the hands of the State Division of Water Resources. It is understood that favorable consideration is being given to this application, and the county may receive the funds at an early date.

These funds have been a considerable help to the county in their road work this season, and have permitted some roads to be worked that county funds could not have covered.

Chester E. Green, arrested Monday night by city officers on the complaint of the management of the Tumble Inn, was fined $25 Tuesday morning before Police Judge Eugene Creed when found guilty of disturbing the peace.

The occasion was planned as a surprise for the guest of honor and the aims of those in charge were achieved to perfection.

Present were the Misses Hazel Davey, Margaret Middendorff, Gladys Wiglesworth, Adele Landis, Nellie Bathurst, Fern Ellis; and the Mesdames Dean Robinson, Dr. Jean Babcock, Edith Mitchell, Don Robinson, Percy Marchini, George Davenport, Pete Thomas, Edward Sayers, Don Veerkamp, James Sweeney, John Calvin, Maice Vaughn, Seth Beach, Virgil Simpson, Buster Nicks, Florence Donnell, Brittain Delis, Cleon Irish, Norman Chamberlain, Erma Lewis, E. Benney, Phil Volz and Elzora Griggs.

The printed word is king in the field of news and advertising. Set down in black and white, the information is available permanently for a passing glance or for reference at some future time. Not so with radio.

Widespread misunderstanding of a radio program broadcast to the nation Sunday evening sent large numbers of people into a panic. They thought that "men from Mars" had descended upon the east coast and were putting a superlative touch to what General Sherman is reported to have said about war.

The result was a deluge of inquiries to eastern newspapers, hospitals, police stations and radio offices as thousands yielded to hysteria in the belief that the "end of the world" was at hand.

THE PROGRAM was broadcast by the Columbia Broadcasting System Sunday evening. It was based on a story by H. G. Wells, "War of the Worlds," as dramatized for radio by Orson Welles. We didn't hear it.

New reports state that the broadcasting studio introduced the drama as an entertainment and it is difficult to imagine that anyone who heard the program in its entirety found more than the thrill of a story well told in the performance.

THE POINT IS, are we sorry that it has taken us five paragraphs to get to it, that thousands of people apparently heard only part of the program?

This ought to be interesting to the purchasers of time on the radio for advertising.

Thousands only received "flashes" of the program, and because of its startling and disconcerting nature, the fact became publicly known as a result of the hysteria it developed.

How many times, when advertisers are spending money for radio time in which the presentation is less startling, do thousands of people listed as "radio listening audience" receive only "flashes" of the program being presented?

THE PRINTED WORD is king in the field of news and advertising. It is there in black and white for reference now, tonight or tomorrow or next week. It conveys its message permanently.

Purchasers of newspaper advertising space need have no fear that the reading public will receive only "flashes" of the program because the entire message is there on the printed page to be read and studied. It doesn't "fizz" across the march of time. Newspaper advertising is substantial.

The printed word is king.

"Nickel in Slot" Juice For Trailer Homes

Before Yellowstone National Park opens for the season next spring, three coin-operated machines will be installed on an experimental basis for sale of electricity to trailer tourists in the Mammoth Camperground, according to the Touring Department of the National Automobile Club. If successful, the electric service will be extended there and maybe to other parks. By placing twenty-five cents in the meter, the trailer will be able to obtain current for a twenty-four hour period. Equipment must be 115 volts with a load limitation of six amperes.

Single Tax, Garrison Bond Act Condemned By Farm Leader

By RALPH H. TALYOR

(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California)

Since the turn of the century, the "Single Tax" in one form or another—has been repudiated by California voters at seven state elections. In each case, the vote has been decisive; in most instances, it has been a thunderous "No" that should have ended the subject, once and for all.

Yet the "Single Tax" has bobbed up again on California's November ballot, this time baited with "Sales Tax Repeal" to snare the unwary voter.

One elemental fact every voter should remember when he considers this double baited proposal: "You can't vote Sales Tax out without voting 'Single Tax' in!" And the "Single Tax" once enacted in California, would bankrupt every farmer in the state within the space of a few years; would destroy home ownership and drive business and industry to move to other states.

No more ruinous tax could possibly be conceived from the standpoint of California agriculture, than the "Single Tax"—Proposition No. 20 on the ballot.

Consider these fundamental facts: "Today, by constitutional provision, no more than 25 per cent of state taxes can be levied against land. Under Proposition 20 (the "Single Tax") 75 per cent of all state taxes would be collected from land.

Ask yourself, Mr. Farmer: "Can I afford it?" And when you have arrived at the answer, vote "NO"—and see that our neighbor votes "No!" The "Single Tax" is predicated on the long-discredited theory that private ownership of land—of a farm, a home, or a business property—is wrong; that the state should be the landlord, the individual, the tenant. If you want tenant farming in California—on a wholesale scale—then vote for the "Single Tax." But if you value the right to own your own farm and work out your own destiny, free from government dictation, then vote "NO!" The farmer, as a taxpayer, also has good reason to beware of Proposition No. 13 at the November election, for this 12,000 word act—the longest and most involved proposal on the ballot—would let down the bars and make it easier for a minority to plunge the community, district, or county, into wholesale public indebtedness.

Generally known as the Garrison Bond Act, or the Revenue Bond Act of 1937, Proposition No. 13 has been condemned by the California State Farm Bureau Federation and the Agricultural Council of California because of its dangerous provision abolishing the two-thirds vote requirement for bond issues. If No. 13 became law, it would permit the issuance of revenue bonds, in any amount, by a bare majority of those actually going to the polls. In reality, it would mean that huge public debts could be voted by a small minority, as only a fraction of the registered voters usually turn out for a bond election.

The theory that "revenue" bonds are different from other bonds, that they do not obligate the general taxpayer, but are merely a charge against revenues of the project—has failed to stand the test of hard experience.

When the Seattle municipal railway defaulted on its bonds (a revenue bond project), the city appealed to the State for general tax funds to bail it out. And only a few months ago, the state legislature of Illinois passed a bill to levy general taxes to re-finance scores of revenue bond projects in that state which had defaulted. In Illinois, to be sure, a courageous governor vetoed the bill, but the projects are still bankrupt—and someone must foot the bill.

If California's public debt (federal, state and local) is evenly divided among California's 800,000 common taxpayers, every farmer and homeowner, every owner of any kind of donment of the service would seriously handicap dairy development in the Latrobe section, where a sizeable business has been built up, based on the regularity of passenger service. This specifically relates to cream and milk shipments.

Some interest attached to the testimony of certain Latrobe residents before Examiner Edwards, that their grandparents had given to the railroad company the rights of way for its line, with the understanding that passenger service would be perpetually maintained on the route. It was reported that records are being searched to determine whether the implied condition was expressed in writing in the grants for the right of way.

The rail line application, filed with the railroad commission several weeks ago, asking leave to discontinue operation in the Latrobe area, was examined Friday by individual residents at Latrobe, Chingale, Diamond Springs and Placerville as well as Harry See, representing the railroad brotherhoods.

real property, already has a mortgage against his holdings of more than $4,000—a mortgage that can't be avoided; that must be paid in higher taxes, California, under the circumstances, can ill afford to make it easier to get into debt. No. 13 would be unlucky for California; farmers should help defeat it!

PROTECT HIGHWAY FUNDS AIM OF NO. 3 ON ELECTION BALLOT

Well-policed highways built in such a way as to eliminate every possible natural hazard.

That is the ideal toward which the State of California is striving and that is the purpose for which Proposition No. 3 is presented to the electorate of the state November 8.

Good and safe highways require money for maintenance and construction and it is necessary that this money be assured from year to year in order that a long-term program of building and maintenance may be effective.

Proposition No. 3, therefore, provides that gas-line tax money must be used for the laying and upkeep of highways, and for no other purpose. It incorporates existing law in the state constitution, where it will not be subject to change by the legislature.

Threat Of Rail Strike,

WASHINGTON, (U)—Possibilities of a nationwide railroad strike diminished today as it became apparent that rail executives would abandon their demands for a 15 per cent wage cut in return for administration support of broad rail aid legislation.

COLLINS SALES COUNSELOR ON ADVISORY BOARD FOR CAR DEALERS

Announcement of the appointment of Mr. C. S. Collins of El Dorado County as sales counselor on Studebaker's Dealer Advisory Board was made this week by Geo. D. Keller, vice president in charge of sales, The Studebaker Corporation.

Mr. Collins, in his new capacity, will have to make frequent trips to South Bend to consult with other Studebaker dealers and sales and engineering executives upon the manufacturing and marketing of Studebaker cars.

Mr. Collins' Studebaker salesrooms are located in Placerville on upper Main Street.

Child Wedding To Have Sequel in Court

PRESTONBURG, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky took stern measures today to dissolve the marriage of 10-year-old Rosie Columbus Tackett, as evidence for the back-hill folk that the state will not tolerate child brides.

Rosie will be taken before a juvenile branch on a charge of delinquency and "growing up in idleness and crime." Mrs. Columbus faces arraignment on a charge of "conspiracy to commit rape."

Proposition 4 Is Opposed

Probable Tax Increase Seen By Junior C. Of C. In Bill To Create Road "Dictators"

The California State Junior Chamber of Commerce has issued a concise and comprehensive handbook on California's Ballot Propositions entitled "For The Perplexed!" This progressive body of young business men of the State has gone on record against Proposition No. 4 which, if passed would set up an autocratic commission with full control over the State Highway Department, Division of Motor Vehicles, California State Highway Patrol and the official safety work of the State. Their reasons for recommending a "NO" vote on No. 4 are both interesting and convincing:

"Approval of this measure will result in the creation of a commission clothed with virtually dictatorial powers over the highways of the state and those who use them. All powers vested in this commission will be beyond the reach of the legislature and of the people, because they are to be cemented into the constitution where they can be modified only by the difficult process of amending that document.

"Regardless of any restriction contained in the state constitution, the legislature is given unlimited authority to confer upon the commission the power to adopt rules, orders and regulations.

"In effect, this measure will result in the creation of a strong highway bureaucracy free from legislative control that will insure the spending of large sums of tax money upon extensive highway programs, whether desirable or not, under the circumstances."

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, California Farm Bureau, Los Angeles Traffic Association, California Traffic Safety Council, National Automobile Club and many other state wide organizations have also gone on record to control these most important departments of our state government, the expenditure of more than $40,000,000 annually of gas tax moneys and the protection of the lives and limbs of our people.

John Berry and R. E. Lane, of the Forest Service regional office at San Francisco, were callers at Eldorado Forest headquarters Monday.

John Sellick was among visitors on Tuesday from the Camino section.

"FAST COMPANY" TOPS NEW BILL AT EMPIRE

Moviegoers who like their adventure spiced with comedy, thrills and romance will be drawn to "Fast Company," new romantic mystery which opens Tuesday at the Empire Theater.

The plot concerns the efforts of an ultra-modern married couple, played by Melvyn Douglas and Florence Rice, to break up the activities of an international stolen rare book gang. They combine married love and a business career by tracking down the suspects to a murder.

The second feature on the bill is "The Black Doll," a Crime Club production.

Zeta Encampment Will Entertain Ladies

Following the regular meeting on Wednesday night of Zeta Encampment No. 5, I. O. O. F., there will be a social occasion at which the wives and sweethearts of members will be honored guests.

The program for the occasion includes various games, motion pictures and, at a late hour, refreshments.

Mrs. Emma L. Messor, of San Diego a Civil Service applicant, has been assigned to office duties at Eldorado Forest headquarters.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK. (AP)—The little literary seed that Gene Tunney planted in the sports world when he was heavyweight champion seems to be bearing fruit at last.

As you all remember, Tunney tore into his Shakespeare with the same earnestness that he did his punching bag. He thought as much of his The-saurus as he did his right cross. He took his Rubiyat with his rubdown, and the choice volumes on his shelves were as well thumbed as his opponents' eyes.

For a long time it appeared he was sowing his seeds of culture on barren ground, and all that he would ever reap would be cruel jibes. Now, years after, with Tunney long retired from active sports participation, the seeds he planted have germinated and the stalks of culture are sprouting midst the athletes.

The latest recruit to the literary ranks is Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh's all-American halfback. Known to sportswriters as "Mad Marshall," and to his teammates as "Biggie," Mr. Goldberg perhaps would prefer to be addressed simply as "Laureate." His latest effort, a saga of the scrub football players, not stunted trees is titled "Red Dawn, Forgotten Grid Man." It was published in the "Pittsburgh Courier" of the Pittsburgh Press (the bulldog edition, anyway) and places him in the front rank of young American poets named Goldberg who play left halfback for Pittsburgh's Panthers.

Here are a few verses from Goldberg's "Red Dawn":
"A great little fellow,
"This carrot-topped guy,
"The mighty 'Red Dawg,'
"Of New Castle high.

"Reporters call him
"A whirling game-cock.
"The left half who starred,
"In even deadlock.

"When he graduated,
"And went to Pitt,
"He public thought,
"Success he'd hit.

"He was shifted to end,
"His freshman year,
"But the struggle was futile,
"Though very sincere."

These four verses will give you a general idea of the poem. They also offer a new slant on Marshall, who would have ever thought, to watch him whirl down the field for touchdowns, that his head was brimming with poetry? Or that during a huddle at a crucial point in a game, he probably was writing an ode to Jock Sutherland, beginning:
"O Coach Jock Sutherland,
"Thou breath of Autumn's being,
"Thou from whose unseen presence the signals come
"From the bench, like ghosts from an enchanter's dream."

Goldberg has undoubtedly been influenced by the works of an earlier sports poet, Henry Armstrong, the lightweight and welterweight boxing

Gaels In New York For Fordham Game

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's arrived today for their annual football game with Fordham Saturday. It will be the eighth game of the trans-continental rivalry. Each have won three games while one ended in a tie. Coach Slip Madigan will establish his team at Westchester Country Club in Rye.

Farm Advisor Ivan Lilley was at the Branch College of Agriculture at Davis on Tuesday, attending a pest control conference.

champion. While he was training for Barney Ross and Lou Ambers Henry spent many a happy hour composing and completed what many consider his masterpiece, a philosophical study of how a fighter feels during those moments from the time he leaves his dressing room until the bell rings.

Armstrong's poem runs the gamut of meter, from Chaucer to Edgar Guest. Who knows but what the great American novel will eventually come from a boxer now knocking down pins at the obscurity of a Brooklyn Alley, or from a wrestler or a lacrosse player, even.

Truly, Gene Tunney has not lived in vain.

Dale Stanfield was taken into custody Monday evening by city officers on suspicion of being drunk. It proved, however, that Mr. Stanfield was ill and he was released to the care of friends by order of Police Judge Eugene Creed.
